

THE PHOENIX ENIGMA

The U.S. Presidential Inauguration, 19.5 and the Control Grid

“There is geometry in the humming of strings,

There is music in the spacing of spheres.”

– Pythagoras

So Donald J. Trump is the President-Elect and even though he has yet to be sworn in, the mainstream media has launched a 24-hour “shock and awe” attack campaign against him while Obama is doing everything he can to begin WWII with Russia and torpedo his successor. However, before Trump can take office and begin pushing back the global agenda he must do one thing. Take the “Oath of Office.”

The Oath of Office is taken during the U.S. Presidential Inauguration and is legally defined as “a ceremony to mark the commencement of a new four year term of a President of the United States.” However, as you are about to learn, there’s a lot more to this than parades, luncheons, and balls. Like most everything surrounding our Federal government, this “ritual” too is shrouded in esoteric symbolism and Egyptian mythology; both which are predicated upon higher mathematics and energetic principles. Even though the Inauguration day ceremony is a constitutionally mandated and public event, virtually nobody knows what is truly going on in plain sight. Quite simply this is because most people are ignorant of occult ritual and symbolism and how it relates to physics. Make no mistake, this ceremony is more than just a formality; and even though it is grounded firmly in ancient ritual, it is very much rooted in the laws of physics and their effect on human behavior. After all, control is the whole point to this science.

U.S. Presidential Inauguration: A Masonic “Ritual” not a Ceremony

Obama's second term Inauguration ritual

Before a U.S. President can “enter on the Execution” of the office of presidency, he must make an oath, or affirmation. This “ritual” is conducted by the chief justice on the 20th day of the January just before noon wherein at exactly noon or (19.5 days into the new solar year) the President elect becomes the new president of the United States of America. Interestingly an oath must be taken for each term of presidency. If the 20th of January falls on a Sunday the president elect is sworn in in a private ceremony that day and then again publicly the following day. The last inauguration was that of Barack Hussein Obama and did take place in a private ceremony on the 20th and then again publicly the following day. It would appear from a occultist point of view that the timing of this “ritual” is extremely important and non-negotiable. What's more no chief justice has ever missed an inauguration day in U.S. History. If that wasn't enough Inauguration Day was originally on March 4th, four months after election day, but this was changed under Franklin D. Roosevelt to January 20th at noon by the Twentieth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution on January 23rd 1933, or the 33rd year of the century. Coincidence? Not in the least.

This same year of 1933

- FDR put the all seeing eye on the back of the dollar bill.
- Construction of the Golden Gate Bridge begins. If you don't know the significance of this please watch “Secrets in Plain Sight.” Just know that it has everything to do with Egyptian mythology.
- FDR declares a “bank holiday” and the great depression begins, consolidating the majority of land and wealth in the nation to a handful of elite families like Rockefeller, Carnegie, and the Morgans who are still in control of our financial institutions today.
- FDR enacts “The New Deal” and the United States embarks down the path of socialism for the first time since becoming a free and sovereign nation.
- FDR issued executive order #6102 making it illegal for Americans to own gold.
- The U.S. Goes off the gold standard.

It seems there was a serious change in the overall direction of our country this year, not only politically and economically, but on a metaphysical level as well. What's more I don't believe that 95% of Americans are even aware of it.

Note here the significance of 33 and how it relates to the number 19.5.

The symbolism you are about to learn is simply an ancient science based on the energetic reality of Earth's mechanics and our relationship as humans within it. I would ask that you please drop for a moment your preconceived notion that the technology of 2017 represents the pinnacle of human knowledge and consider for a moment that today's science is built upon a much more ancient and organic system.

Once you discover this science for yourself you will begin to see it everywhere, and this is because it IS everywhere. It is quite literally written in the stars and earth's magnetic fields while simultaneously weaving the foundations of your genetic code. Once you understand even the basics of this ancient science the veil will begin to lift and an organic order will become evident.

19.5 = The Star of David

This is the primary number encoded into the "Star of David" or a "six pointed star" this of course is also the recognized symbol for Judaism. This symbol is actually two tetrahedrons (one inverted) overlaying the other. A tetrahedron is a 4 sided equilateral triangle or (one type of pyramid). 19.5 degrees north and south are the latitudes where the apex point of the star tetrahedra within a sphere will contact that sphere's surface, when one apex is positioned at the north and south pole. Another way of saying it is "When one encircles these overlaying triangles the side points of the triangles will be at 19.5 degrees N and S on the circle." At first this appears to simply be a mathematical product of geometry, but as one looks into our own world we begin to see patterns and these patterns are what make this such a meaningful religious symbol.

IT'S THE JEWS!!!!

Ummm No.
Not this time.

Before we get any deeper let me say that this has nothing to do with a Jewish conspiracy take over the world. What we are dealing with is Kabbalistic knowledge, or Jewish mysticism. The Kabbalah is a grab bag of ancient esoteric science and numerology derived from the laws of our natural world, which underlies modern Judaeo faith. Whereas the Star of David does hold power and much knowledge, most Jews are ignorant of this fact. Much the same way most Christians are ignorant of the origins of the cross. The fact is, as your about to learn, symbols do hold great power. Either through their ability to resonate with the human psyche due to their geometry or with the coding that lies within this geometry itself as a repository of knowledge. Either way, this particular symbol was chosen by the Jews, and most certainly from the "mystic" side of their faith as it is heavily embedded with ancient knowledge. Whats more, this symbol isn't even originally Jewish, it is part of a large much older system studied and taught by men such as Pythagoras and Zoroaster; and utilized by the Babylonians and Indians before them. The truth is, nobody knows the original source of much of this knowledge, mankind just seems to keep rediscovering and re-marketing it.

The Ark of the Covenant

Exodus 25:10 And they shall make an ark of shit'-tim wood: two cubits and a half shall be the length thereof, and a cubit and a half the breadth thereof, and a cubit and a half the height thereof. 25:11 And thou shalt overlay it with pure gold, within and without shalt thou overlay it, and shalt make upon it a crown of gold round about. THE SURFACE AREA OF THE ARK OF THE COVENANT IS 19.5 CUBITS

Saturn's Cube = the Star of David = the Holy Cross = All the Same Math

One can say It all begins with the 2 dimensional hexagram or 3 dimensional cube on the north pole of Saturn.

A black cube found in public and adorning government buildings all across the planet

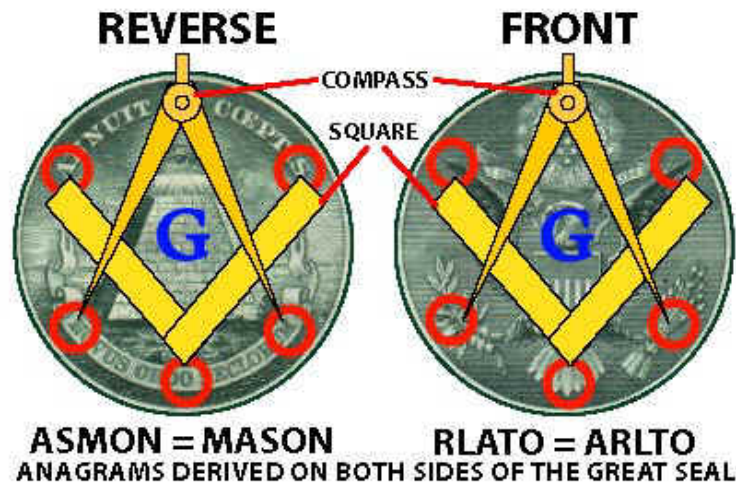

A cube which also unfolds into a 2-dimensional cross.

Just like these symbols, we are experiencing only 3 dimensions of a much more complex and higher dimensional reality, and it is there, in those higher dimensions which the foundations are laid. Imagine a sphere passing through a wall. The wall is 2 dimensional and the sphere is 3, however, from the wall's perspective, the wall would experience a tiny circle appears then gradually grow in circumference until the sphere was halfway through then begin to shrink again and finally disappear altogether as it cleared the wall. I use this example because you cannot imagine 4 dimensions, none of us can.

19.5 the U.S. Government and Freemasonry

We've established that 19.5 and the Star of David are synonymous. The previous simply being the numerical equivalent of the latter; exactly the way a word problem in math class is converted into an equation in order to solve it.

The Great Seal of the United States on the back of the dollar bill has the Star of David at the root of its design

We see the Star of David and therefore 19.5 throughout U.S. Symbolism, the dollar bill is awash with it. Of course, this has everything to do with Freemasonry as the Star of David is laid out in their very own square and compass, along with the letter "G" which stands for Geometry, God, and the number "7". OK, so most people know this by now (thank you Dan Brown) but few realize that there is anything deeper to it. A symbol doesn't just unify an organization, it conveys knowledge. Think of a symbol as a process of energy or a repository of information., not simply a design. Therein lies the magic of symbols.

Symbol of the Freemasons

Presidents who were Freemasons

George Washington
James Monroe
Andrew Jackson
James Polk
James Buchanan
Andrew Johnson
James Garfield
William McKinley

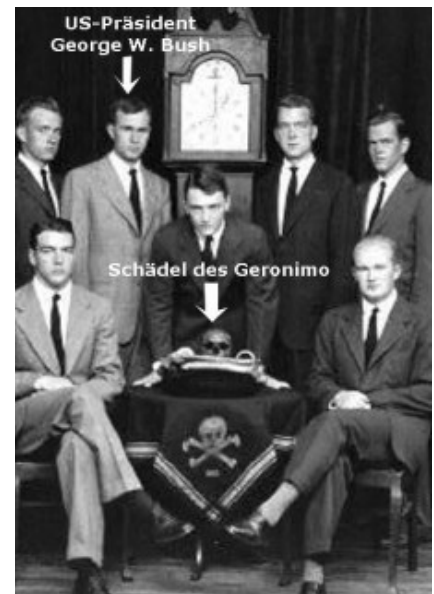

Theodore Roosevelt
Howard Taft
Warren Harding
Franklin Roosevelt
Harry Truman
Gerald Ford

Abraham Lincoln – applied for membership as the Tyrian Lodge but withdrew the application shortly thereafter because he didn't want to appear that he was garnering votes. He vowed to return after his presidential term but obviously never did.

Lyndon Johnson – received his first degree in October 30th 1937 but supposedly found his congressional duties so demanding that he was unable to pursue degrees and withdrew from the Lodge. (The funny thing is; there are no “former Masons” only those who have “broken their oath.” And as history played out Lyndon B. Johnson was probably the most ruthless president this country has ever known. We now know that along with George Bush 1st, Johnson was very much in on the assassination of JFK.

Ronald Reagan – Believed to be a Freemason as he is an honorary member of the Imperial Council of the Shrine and has been involved on numerous occasions with Masonic and Shrine functions; Ronnie has also taken part in pagan rituals at Bohemian Grove. Although confusion over his membership abounds; on February 11th, 1988 ($2+11=13$) ($1+9+8+8=7$) a ceremony/ritual took place in the Oval Office wherein a group of Freemasons presented President Reagan with a certificate of honor from the Grand Lodge of D.C. wherein at this time he was made an Honorary Scottish Rite Mason. However, the title of Freemason can only be conferred by a Grand Lodge of Ancient and Accepted Masons. What truly happened in the Oval Office that day we will never know.

George H. W. Bush – Has also been seen at the Bohemian Grove participating in mock pagan sacrifice rituals. His son along with John Kerry are members of Skull and Bones, a Freemason offshoot secret society at Yale University. George H.W. Bush also took his oath of office with his hand on the Washington Bible, although this is said to have been at the request of the Joint Congressional Committee on Inaugural Ceremonies. Really?

Do you notice the “Star of David” being formed by the three men in front?

George Washington's Inaugural Bible

Now known as the George Washington Inaugural Bible, the Bible originally used by Washington was borrowed from St. John's Masonic Lodge. Presidents Warren G. Harding, Dwight D. Eisenhower, Jimmy Carter, and George H.W. Bush have all also used this Bible for their Inauguration ceremonies. Once used the Bible is taken back to St. John's Lodge.

The U.S. Capitol = Isis: Birth Mother

Since 1933 the Inauguration "ritual" has always taken place at the U.S. Capitol, mind you Gerald Ford, due to Nixon's resignation took the Oath of Office elsewhere, he did not participate in the Inaugural ritual. Note that there is a distinction between the Oath of Office and the Inauguration they are two separate events. For those of you familiar with D.C. Masonic symbolism you already know that Pierre Charles L'Enfant engineered the layout of the streets of Washington D.C. In Masonic symbolism, but during this he designed the Capitol building to represent the (the pregnant belly of Isis) from which continual birth and life would flow unto our nation. How fitting that an ancient Egyptian goddess should give birth to the next ruler of the most powerful nation on earth every four years in a city dedicated to and named after the ancient Greek goddess Columbia.

Since 1933, with only one

Obama being sworn into office on January 20th 2013 in the Oval Office exception, every President who has participated in an Inauguration ritual has done so at the Capitol building. As I stated before Barack Hussein Obama's second inauguration ritual occurred in public on January 21st at noon at the Capitol building. The swearing in where he took the oath of office took place on January 20th in the White House. Barack Hussein Obama DID NOT participate in the inauguration ritual at the Capitol on the 19.5th day of the solar year preceding his second term in office. What does this mean? I'm not sure exactly, but America has slipped deeper into globalism in the past 8 years than all the previous presidencies combined.

Election Cycles = Ovulation Cycles

One should look at the political rhythms of the United States government from an organic perspective and view it as an ovulation cycle. A cleansing of old blood which is replaced by new fresh blood on a regular or cyclical basis. Old blood, as we know becomes poisonous and will eventually kill or corrupt the body if not purged, while new blood brings life and possibility. This happens in the human female body on a 28-day cycle which is connected to and controlled by the cycle of the moon. Our founding fathers also designed a system or cycle which provides fresh blood to our "body" of government. It is this fresh blood which keeps the corruption out and maintains the life of the United States of America. This cycle is carried out through a political system known as a democratic republic which takes place underfoot ancient ritual and symbolism at every turn. Our founding fathers truly created an amazing, and harmonious machine predicated upon the natural rhythms of our Solar and Geo energies. Are you beginning to understand the brilliance of our founding fathers?

"No way" you say. Not so much when you understand that the founding fathers designed the District of Columbia not only to pay homage to the ancient Egyptian Gods Isis and Osiris but to physically build a giant energetic altar. It's only when you realize this fact do the cycles of our nation's political system in conjunction with its deep esoteric symbolism begin to make any sort of sense. But that is just the first step, once you begin thinking alchemically, like our founding fathers, nearly every aspect of not only our nation but our world and your place in it, takes on new dimensions and you cease being a "human resource." I believe it is this attitude and thought process which fueled and won the American Revolution.

The Resurrection of a Goddess: The U.S. Capitol Cornerstone Laying Ritual

The United States Capitol cornerstone laying was the ceremonial placement of the cornerstone of the U.S. Capitol on September 18th, 1793. The cornerstone was laid by President George Washington, assisted by the Grand Master of Maryland Joseph Clark, in a Masonic ritual. What's more is that many of the ritual paraphernalia used in the ritual have been repurposed and are currently used for the placement of foundation stones at other important buildings in Washington D.C. Centennial and bicentennial ceremonies/rituals of the U.S. Capitol cornerstone were held in 1893 and 1993 with the 2093 tricentennial ritual already announced.

George Washington laying the cornerstone for the U.S. Capitol

The ritual (From Wikipedia)

At 10:00 a.m. on September 18, President of the United States George Washington and his entourage crossed the Potomac River to arrive in the city of Washington. There, they were joined by an escort consisting of the Alexandria Volunteer Artillery, and members of Masonic lodges from Virginia and Maryland, and proceeded to the construction grounds approximately 1.5 miles (2.4 km) away. At the site of the Capitol, Washington was received by Joseph Clark, the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Maryland. A silver plaque, fashioned by Georgetown silversmith Caleb Bentley, was handed to Washington, who stepped into the foundation trench and placed the plaque, whereupon the cornerstone was lowered. The plaque was inscribed with a brief tribute to the “military valor and prudence” of Washington and dedicated the building in the “first year, of the second term, of the presidency of George Washington... and in the year of Masonry 5,793.

Washington, accompanied by three Worshipful Masters carrying sacrifices of corn, wine, and oil, then struck the stone three times with a gavel, as prescribed by Masonic custom. Washington exited the trench to ritual chanting by the assembled Masons and a 15-gun salute (one gun for each U.S. state) from the Alexandria Volunteer Artillery. Clark then delivered a short invocation, after which a 500 pounds (230 g) ox was slaughtered and roasted.

Sounds like a Ritual to me.

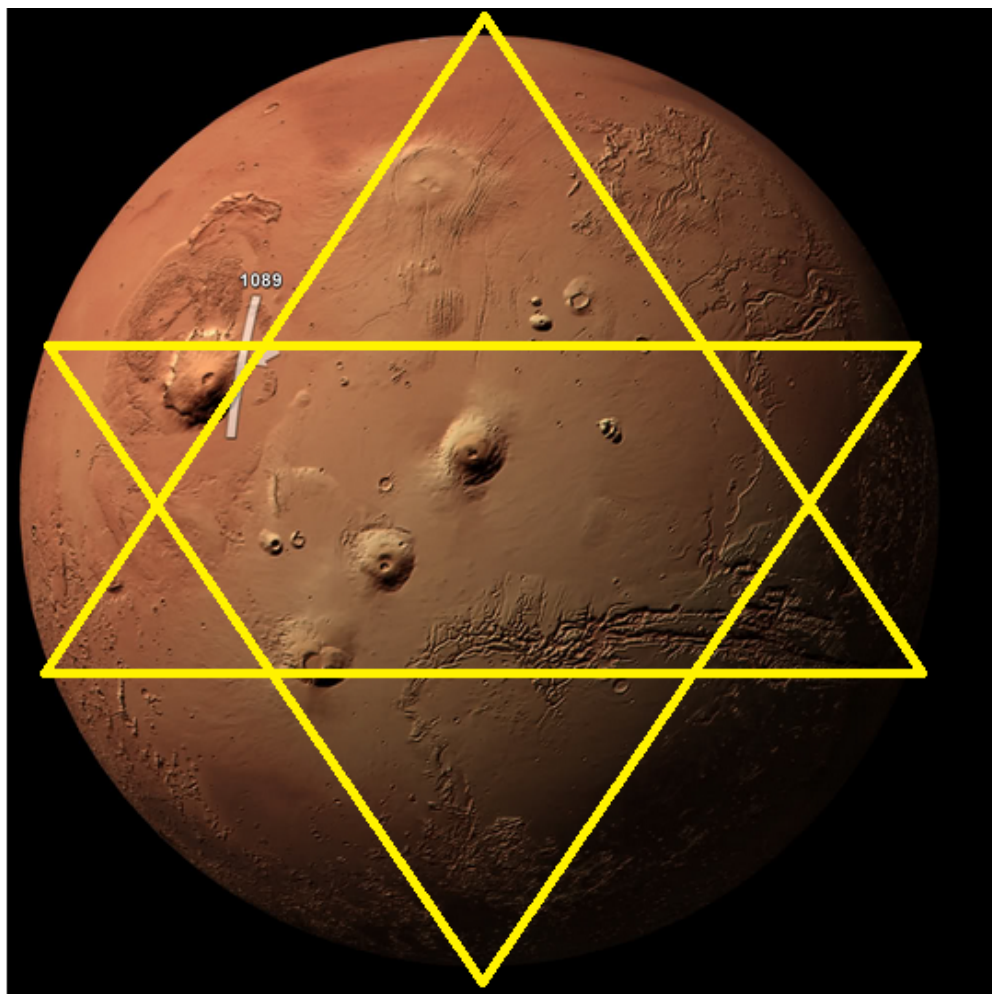

A Deeper Look Into 19.5

It is a fact that that on nearly every planet in our solar system there is a major geologic or atmospheric disturbance on or extremely near 19.5 degrees north or south latitude.

- Our Sun- Sunspot activity and the region of peak solar temperatures is limited to 19.5 degrees north and south.
- On Venus- Active volcanoes Alpha and Beta Regio are located near 19.5 degrees.

- On Mars- we find Olympus Mons at 19.5 degrees N. At 13.6 miles tall, this is the solar system's largest volcano.
- On Jupiter- the giant red spot/storm occurs at exactly 19.5 south latitude.
- On Neptune- The 1986 Voyager II discovered a "dark spot" similar to that of the spot on Jupiter at exactly 19.5 degrees N.
- On Saturn- Major up-welling geologic energies have been recorded at 19.5 degrees.
- Earth-
 1. Mount Mauna Lao Volcano in Hawaii. It is the largest volcano on Earth and is located at exactly 19.5 degrees N. The average birth of hurricanes occur at 19.5 degrees N or S latitude.
 2. Teotihuacan (Pyramid of the Sun) 19.6 N
 3. Mount Emi Koussi 19.47 N
 4. Mount Kalsubai, Bombay India 19.33N
 5. The Giza Pyramids, Avebury (the largest stone circle in the world, near Stonehenge)
- Earth's Moon has the Tsiolkovsky lava extrusion at 19.5 degrees.

It is worth noting that the Egyptian hieroglyph for Sirius (brightest star in the sky and extremely important to Egypt) is an equilateral triangle which can be viewed as a 2-dimensional representation of a tetrahedron of which the Egyptian translation means "Doorway."

The Olympus Mons Shield Volcano is located at exactly 19.5 degrees on the planet Mars

19.5 (and 33) within NASA

On July 4th 1997 the Mars Pathfinder landed at exactly 19.5 degrees latitude N 33 degrees W on the planet Mars. This just so happens to be the exact latitude and longitude of the apex of the Great Bend of the Nile River in Sudan. The 4th of July, is obviously the United State's Independence day but also a day of solar significance. The 4th of July is known as the Aphelion or the day of the year when the Earth is furthest away from the Sun. Can anyone believe this to be a coincidence at this point?

- 19.5 is the Earth's Heilm Co-axis for targeting approach in Orbital Mechanics
- 33 is the co- $\mathcal{A}$ for orbital nodal absolvment for trans-lunar flight from Earth
- 19.5 is the radial axiom control $\mathcal{A}$ < for the orbiter's planned AOA (Abort once Around)
- 33 is the nodal femto F_i for applied motion at KSC static launch site (the space craft is already going 1020 miles per hour toward the east as it sits there because of Earth's spin—Called, TPMD=The Applied Motion Dynamic)(tried to explain this to oberg and others like 'Dr' Sauder—got nowhere)
- 19.5 is the general degree placement of retainer bolt inspection holes on the shuttle's SRBs because circumferentially this is the spacing best suited for pre-stressed aluminum—the metal used in the SRB casings.
- 33 outlets on the huge harmonic dampening flood gates in the flame chutes under both 39A, and 39B launch pads. Why?—because that is the number of outlet connections on the trunk valve as supplied by Noriden Lawn Sprinkler Systems to NASA.
- 19.5 is the fempto-Sine-LAR control number for slow-axis ascension for an approaching spacecraft to an orbiting on-axis body.
- 33 is the number for the coefficient for achieving trans- martian orbital decay when a spacecraft fails to achieve orbital insertion at a prescribed time and must then be changed to ATV (Abort to Vector)
- 19.5 is the mean $\mathcal{A}$ product if you take the Earth's weight of 855 Octillion tons and divide by the number of the measurement in feet of one side of the largest pyramid in Egypt.
- 33 degrees is the mean orbital axis displacement of the moon in Earth's Asides defined departure angle.
- 19.5 cubic inches is the displacement of salt ice when heated to 33 degrees K @ mean sea level per 33 seconds of applied heat.
- 33 is the escape Sine> $\mathcal{A}$ for the shuttle's failure threshold when in ATO (Abort to Orbit) mode after two main motors fail at exactly 3:33 seconds after liftoff.
- 19.5 degrees is the apparent deflection angle for any spacecraft that finds itself in this approach mode on coming in for orbital insertion to the moon.

- 33 is the numeric control number in CALC wave stress mechanics for Shuttle main engine nozzle burn through
- 19.5 and 33 are the fault tree numbers for anything that exceeds, in airframe parlance, build-to-fail-at tolerances of 1.5 or greater.
- 33 degrees is the placement angle offset from the orbiter's longitudinal axis of the three main engines.
- 19.5 is the displacement angle of the top cone sheet of the shuttle's OMS pods
- 33 degrees is the max. approach angle for decent of the orbiter on reentry—beyond this—it burns up
- 19.5 degrees is the slope angle of the L and R-RCS motor pods on the shuttle's rear
- 33 degrees is the slope of the shuttle's windshield
- 19.5 is the applied departure angle for spanning any prestressed concrete beam over 33 feet in length with a cross-section of 19.5 percent that of its length
- 33 degrees is the cross tilt vector for nozzling the SRB exhaust nozzle motors
- 19.5 degrees is the span of radial arc for ALL the RCS motors on the shuttle
- 33 degrees of stress from any angle off of 90 or 180 degrees is failure level for all air-frames
- 19.5 is the failure number control factor for SRB motor vector pressure at the time of motor ignition.
- 33 mph is the speed of the shuttle after it has risen 19.5 feet off the launch pad in vertical motion. (boy, we sure planned that one!)
- 19.5 is the max. angle of the movement on the aft stabilizers on the shuttle
- 33 is nearly 1/3 of a nautical second of arc
- 19.5 is the Planck number of nanoseconds when iron was produced after the big bang

Richard C. Hoagland (an ex NASA consultant) persists to this day that senior managers at NASA arrange key missions and mission events to take place at astrologically favorable times. Richard holds that they do this in order to honor the ancient Egyptian Gods Isis, Osiris and Horus. Isis is represented by the star Sirius, Osiris by the three belt stars of Orion, and Horus by the star Regulus (the main star in the constellation Leo) According to Hoagland; NASA considers a time favorable when one of these five stars is at specific key elevations as seen from a place relevant to that mission. Hoagland maintains that we are not only dealing with science at this point but rather a religious cult. I think he is correct, only I believe it goes much deeper than a simple religious belief system. A quick internet search will pull up copious amounts of research conducted by Mr. Hoagland; and if space, Nazis, NASA, and the occult interest you, you can't go wrong.

It's obvious that the senior managers at NASA have access to some key knowledge which the rest of us do not. They seemed to have figured out the 19.5 code ahead of everyone else and moved forward with their plans under the guise of national interest. Though it should also be obvious at this point that national interest isn't always what it seems.

A 2017 fiscal year spending bill was just approved April 19th, 2016 which gives NASA $19.3 billion. This bill was introduced as a House appropriations bill May 17th which allotted $19.5 billion, but somewhere along the way, the Senate cut it down. What does this mean? Is it simply a coincidence? Obviously, it's not. It seems to me that clear messages are clearly being sent not only to government officials who vote through the funding of our national programs but to other world leaders. There are roughly 6,500 spoken languages on Earth today and this is simply another one. A language of numerical code which the elite use to move forward their agenda. It is obvious in this case that the proposed funding amount of $19.5 Billion was a clear message that this spending bill was to pass, and it did. Without a doubt, plans have been made and there is work being done. It is my guess that you can look for a major world power to publicly announce that the human race will soon to be colonizing Mars, or perhaps that we already have.

National Reconnaissance Office (NRO) This is a patch for a NRO spy-satellite launch. Those familiar with this site will probably recognize this Illuminati 101 symbolism: An unfinished pyramid topped by the All-Seeing Factor all this into the fact that the entire NASA space program is nothing more than a continuation of the German Nazi rocket program made possible by captured WWII German rocket scientists through "Project Paperclip" and you have an organization fit for a bomb episode of Archer.

How it all works

In short, geometry or (earth measurement), the measuring of the earth provides the roadmap so to speak for unlocking the mysteries of this science. Once one begins plotting measurements, one begins amassing data. Simply look through the data and search for repetition. This repetition connotes intrinsic behavior of energy and pattern which in theory is reproducible, and if not reproducible, at least usable if one knows where and how to find it.

The Great Pyramid (Khufu Pyramid), Stonehenge, Gobekli Tepe, Teotihuacaun, Tikal, Goseck Circle, Nabta Calendar, Gilgal Refaim, Atlit Yam, Circlestone. These are just a few of the thousands of ancient sites constructed in mankind's recent past, and by recent I mean the last two to twelve thousand years. Some of these are underwater now while others are buried deep in the jungle. Still, others have been placed under the protection of the country in which they are found and have been turned into historical or tourist sites in an effort to preserve and understand them, or perhaps just rewrite their history. I'm sure both are true.

The greatest structure ever built. The Great Pyramid takes into account dozens of Earth's measurements, including the speed of light in a vacuum measured in meters.

No matter where we find these sites it is clear that they all have one thing in common, they take into account the measurements of Earth. It seems the power structures of old were very much into this. But why? Why would ancient cultures go to the trouble of constructing huge, labor-intensive megalithic works which sometimes spanned decades? Our academic institutions have explained this away with one word. Religion. And the people bought it. This was a perfect explanation as the old Pagan religions built their temples atop these sacred earth sites. When the Christians came they tore them down and built their churches on top of those sites and same went for the Muslims whenever they conquered Christian lands or visa-versa. Regardless of new archaeological findings and sheer improbability of the original theories surrounding these sites most people still believe what mainstream academia says; that these megalithic sites are the simple works of primitive cultures. But there is nothing primitive about measuring the earth, nor what this undertaking may infer. It almost seems like it is inevitable that we discover this science at some point. It also seems that this science was hijacked sometime in the early 20th century too.

Hijacking Physics, the Ultimate Control Grid

These ancient sciences or what we now call the occult were discovered and mapped out centuries ago. This knowledge was then woven into religion and secret societies where it has been coveted and used for the control others, modern day science has simply magnified this knowledge with new technology. The scary part is, the elites have co-opted the higher institutions of education and maintain control of the whole system still. Once one understands the road that the human mind, body, and dare I say soul must travel upon, one has only to control that road in order to harvest the work and potential of those who travel upon it.

Government utilizing geometry to harness natural Earth energy

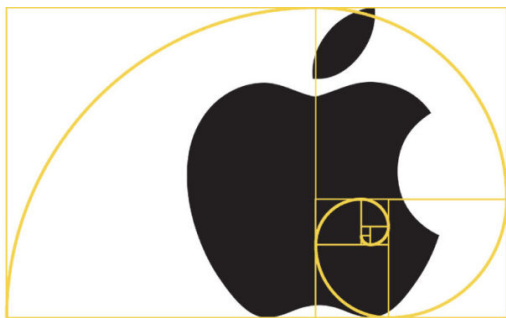

Saturn's Cube on the graduation cap.
The elites dominance over the institution of education.

To this challenge, they have answered with the "institution", primarily those of government and religion, and education. A matrix if you will of symbols, beliefs, and ceremony formed and executed in perfect resonance with the physical laws of our world. An organic matrix predicated upon universal laws found from the largest solar systems to the most basic of life forms. Build a system encoding these laws and you have a system one can tweak and control at will, literally harnessing the human potential of thought and manifesting reality in our three-dimensional world. Now, imagine that reality was being designed and built according to a select few in control of this ancient science. Scary thought? Well, this is exactly what is currently happening.

Those who would be our masters have constructed a network of roads or "institutions" and posted them with signs that resonate with the information (symbols) already encoded into our foundational makeup. Most of these signs aren't even recognizable unless one knows what to look for, but they are there all the same. They attract to, resonate with, and then instruct us through energetic law, or physics. They are found everywhere from corporate logos and architecture to Disney cartoons. Does this seem too far out there?

Visualize for a moment the dimensions of a credit card, drivers license, light switch, and a laptop computer. They all have the same spacial ratio of 3:5. This is not by accident and is because 3:5 is the 2-dimensional graph plot for the golden spiral or the Fibonacci number sequence. This sequence is found throughout all of nature and is the mathematical foundation on which your DNA is constructed. Tests have verified that people who are considered beautiful or attractive have facial feature proportions closest to 3:5. This is because 3:5 is found "pleasing" to the human brain and we are instinctively attempting to resonate with it at every level. Pine cones, sunflower seeds, flower petals, the galaxy, your ear canal, leaves, EVERYTHING in our world functions at the 3:5 ratio. Financial institutions (which are based in ancient science as well) have figured out that if they make their credit cards instinctively attractive, you are more likely to use it (spend money) which in turn maintains the financial slavery system by keeping you poor and them wealthy and in control through the sorcery of compound interest.

Science, politics, religion, government, physics, economics, geometry, it's all part of the same system and it is a crime that our institutions of learning teach them as separate and independent subjects; but once again, this is by design. And what's more, once you get out of school and enter "the real world" it is not polite to talk about two things; religion and politics. Well tell me, is there anything more crucial to the freedom of mankind than the consequences of religion or politics?

What's interesting is that every generation there is a new crop of humans born. New humans which know nothing other than what they've been gifted through genetic memory. These new people have to be taught how to speak, tie their shoes, boil water, etc. They have learned that the world is round and that they live on a planet within a solar system. Now imagine for a moment that an environmental or nuclear tragedy of some kind was to take place and this new crop of people was forced to start over. Civilization is a fragile thing.

Now let us go the other way for a moment. Imagine that a select few within the human race reaches the technological ability to control all knowledge on earth through a network of institutions. Imagine that from cradle to grave humans are reduced to "human resources" wherein they are worked into a system of managed jobs, healthcare, and recreation (national sporting events). Imagine for a moment that they are expected to produce for institutions and corporations in exchange for a non-perishable form of trade which can then be exchanged for basic needs like food, shelter, and clothing. Now imagine a system where these human resources are forced to pay for their own training and education for these jobs and wind up in debt half their lives while working in the job they trained for. Imagine a world where less than 1% of the population claim they own all the land and resources but sell it to masses at interest locking them into a life of financial slavery. A system wherein the masses have to spend all their time on Earth producing labor for corporations owned by the very people who are selling them their land and food. Wow, just imagine.....

You are part of the code

The heart is located at 19.5 degrees within the vertical axis of the human body.

About

Welcome to the Phoenix Enigma. You have stumbled upon the only website devoted to decoding and reverse-engineering the esoteric symbolism embedded within the city of Phoenix, Arizona. Here you will find articles examining a myriad of esoteric topics including physics, sacred geometry, politics, architecture and ancient religions; science and which form the foundations of the institutions of civilization. These sciences are well known by many, however, most fail to understand how they have been used by esoteric organizations throughout the ages for the control and manipulation of others. Here at The Phoenix Enigma we shed light on these topics and attempt to make the intangible, tangible.

Scary indeed... religion and esotericism woven into politics, and the world's most ancient symbolism being secretly exploited to subjugate larger humanity. Who would imagine that the angles of geometry and the encoding of symbols could begin to confine and throttle us! Brilliant article. Thanks for lifting the veil...!

Beautiful; connects the dots of pearl necklace so tediously that the Grail is the secret or code for under standing everlasting life; well done.

Brilliant. Just brilliant. You cover much here, elegantly and concisely. The NASA 19.5 & 33 is nearly all new to me, as is all the information about the Oath of Office/Inauguration and the ritual surrounding the laying of the Capitol cornerstone. Thank you for your dedication and perseverance in bringing all this to Light.
